DSAC
DOMESTIC SECURITY ALLIANCE COUNCIL

The Domestic Security Alliance Council (DSAC) is a strategic collaboration of 400+ member companies formed to promote timely communication regarding security and intelligence information between the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), and the private sector.

Mission

To advance the FBI's vision of being ahead of the threat through leadership, agility, and integration by facilitating enduring relationships between private sector member companies, the FBI, DHS, fusion centers, and other government entities.

Leadership

DSAC is led by a nine-member Executive Working Group (EWG) comprised of FBI, DHS, and private sector executives. The EWG oversees the direction of the DSAC program through the DSAC Leadership Council (DLC) and the DLC's four committees: Education and Training, Intelligence and Threats, Governance and Nominating, and Strategic Planning and Operations.

Program Office

The DSAC Program Office is comprised of FBI and DHS professionals dedicated to enhancing the DSAC user interface and consistently sharing information across the entire DSAC membership in a clear and timely manner.

200 FORTUNE ONE THOUSAND

100 FORTUNE FIVE HUNDRED

MEMBER COMPANIES

Benefits:

- ✓ Direct engagement with FBI and DHS leaders and professionals
- ✓ Ongoing access to a network of diverse security experts at the highest levels of government and the private sector
- ✓ Tailored intelligence and security information from the FBI and DHS
- ✓ Access to a members-only portal where private sector members and government officials collaborate, resolve problems, exchange best practices, and share information
- ✓ Access to local, regional, and national executive events, continuing education, and conferences related to national security

How to Join:

Learn more about the membership process or complete an application by visiting: www.DSAC.gov/get-involved