HELP FOR VICTIMS OF TRAFFICKING IN PERSONS

Freedom is one of the most important rights afforded to every human being. No one should be forced or coerced to act against their will. Unfortunately, the practice of modern day slavery exists in our world today. Trafficking in Persons (human trafficking) is a violation of federal civil rights laws. The FBI is investigating these crimes as one of its top civil rights priorities to protect those who may be a victim of this crime.

If any of these things have happened to you, you may be a victim of a serious crime. If you feel that you are in danger, contact local law enforcement, the FBI, or 911.

YOU MAY BE A VICTIM OF TRAFFICKING IN PERSONS IF SOMEONE HAS:

- ▣ forced you to work against your will;
- ▣ collected a debt by using threats or forcing you to work to pay the debt;
- ▣ forced you to work using threats to harm you and/or your family;
- ▣ forced or pressured you into prostitution or to do other sexual acts;
- ▣ taken away your passport, birth certificate, or identification card to intimidate and control your movements.

RESOURCES FOR VICTIMS

They assist victims by providing support, information, and referrals to resources in the community.

The Victim Specialist's primary responsibilities are: the victims' well-being; keeping victims informed about the status of their case; and, helping victims reclaim their freedom.

IF YOU ARE NOT A LEGAL RESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

You may be eligible to stay in the United States for a determined period of time depending on your individual circumstances. Once you qualify as a victim of trafficking in persons, the law guarantees certain legal benefits and services.

There may be immigration services available to you. It is important to talk to an immigration attorney or community organization that can advise you about your choices.
