Program Overview

The FBI-SOS (Safe Online Surfing) Internet Challenge is a FREE, educational, fun online program that promotes cyber citizenship and teaches students in third through eighth grades how to recognize and respond to online dangers. Sponsored and managed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), the program provides vital Internet safety guidance in an interesting and engaging format.

The FBI-SOS Internet Challenge enables participating students to familiarize themselves with practical information, safety tips, and resources to help them stay protected online and grow to become safe, responsible cyber citizens.

The FBI-SOS Internet Challenge is open to all public and private schools nationwide.

Only an Internet connection is needed to participate. No downloads or installation required.

How it Works

Each month, third- through eighth-grade students compete to win the FBI-SOS Internet Challenge by playing games, completing activities, and taking web-based quizzes. The activities promote online safety and cyber citizenship. The program runs September through May.

Designed to meet state and federal Internet safety mandates, the FBI-SOS Internet Challenge addresses relevant Internet safety topics and concerns that students face today. There are unique FBI-SOS Internet Challenges for each grade. The program builds upon itself each year by introducing new ideas and concepts in each grade while supporting the information previously covered.

Topics Covered

- Protecting Personal Information
- Online Predators
