

SEEKING INFORMATION

MULTIPLE EXTORTION ATTEMPTS

Hollis, New Hampshire
Since 2017

Victims of Animal Cruelty

Act 2

I saw your flag on your lawn
And time almost gone
I know your in
Just pay me know and you will win
It will be simple and fast
I left instructions under glass
On your grass
From here o keep 50k cash on your ass

Extortion Letter

REWARD

The FBI is offering a reward of up to $10,000 for information leading to the identification, arrest, and conviction of the individual(s) responsible for a series of extortion attempts in Hollis, New Hampshire, since 2017.

DETAILS

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is seeking information which will lead to the identification, arrest, and conviction of the individual, or individuals, behind multiple extortion attempts, harassment, and animal cruelty inflicted upon a family and their farm known as Rickety Ranch in Hollis, New Hampshire, since 2017.

The family received multiple extortion letters that were sent in an attempt to collect $250,000. In exchange for the payment, the sender offered to spare the family from harm, and claimed to be capable of settling their ongoing disputes with the Town of Hollis, New Hampshire. In addition to the letters, the family was the target of various attacks over the last two years. Thousands of dollars in damage was done to their property, including their vehicles and barn. Multiple acts of animal cruelty were also committed on the farm.

If you have any information concerning this case, please contact the FBI's Boston Field Office at (857) 386-2000, your local FBI office, or the nearest American Embassy or Consulate.

Field Office: Boston