During the morning of November 26, 1995, a hunter discovered the skeletal remains of a young white male in a remote wooded area on the bank of Turtle Creek in Bradford Township, Rock County, (near Janesville), Wisconsin. Forensics analysis determined that the young male was deceased for approximately one year, placing his time of death during the fall/winter of 1994. The cause and manner of death is undetermined. A black Aquatech watch was found on his left wrist and under the body was a pendant of goat's head handcrafted from dinner fork. For additional information and photographs, refer to National Missing and Unidentified Persons System (NamUs) case UP# 4757.
